HATFIELD QUALIFIES FOR CEP FUNDING

POMFRET- Sue Hatfield, the Republican-endorsed candidate for Attorney General, was voted unanimously by the State Elections Enforcement Commission today to receive her Citizens' Election Program funding.

"I want to thank all of the people who have invested their time and money in my campaign to help me spread my vision for the Attorney General's office," said Hatfield. "Since launching my campaign for Attorney General, I have had the opportunity to visit towns and cities across the state and met with countless residents who are tired of the way Connecticut has been run by the Malloy administration. It is clear that we need to take this state in a new direction."

Hatfield raised $82,467 from 1250 individuals. She becomes one of the first statewide down-ballot races to qualify for the Citizens' Election Program.

"The Attorney General is a highly important position and we need someone in this seat who will stand up for the citizens of Connecticut," added Hatfield. "Connecticut is facing many challenges financially and legally, and as your Attorney General, I will always uphold the State and Federal Constitutions."

Hatfield continued, "From my experience in the hospital room to the courtroom, I have what it will take to lead the Office of Attorney General effectively. We don't need another politician that can talk the talk but can't walk the walk."

Sue and her husband Nick currently reside in Pomfret, Connecticut with their two sons Willam (10) and Danny (5), and their German Shepherd, K-9 Elvis who also recently retired from the Connecticut State Police.
